Wild Horse Inn

Handcrafted from 400-year-old pine logs, moss covered rock and giant picture windows, The Wild Horse Inn is reminiscent of the grand mountain lodges built at the turn of the 20th century, back when Colorado was rougher around the edges and refinement had a distinctively rustic flair. Just an hour and a half from Denver, the Wild Horse Inn near Winter Park sits nestled among acres of trees and meadows, surrounded by Rocky Mountain National Park and an infinity of mountains on all sides. The Wild Horse Inn offers on-site massage services, sauna, hot tub and seven intimate guestrooms, each with private bath and balcony. Gourmet breakfasts, cookies baked from scratch and hearty afternoon soups provide sustenance for your mountain adventures. Ski, snowshoe, hike or mountain bike out the back door to more than 600 miles of trails, or flyfish on scenic rivers and play golf.
